For Congress,
JOSEPH E. WASHINGTON.
For State Senator,
WILLIAM A. QUARLES.
For Representatives,
R. H. BURNETT,

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Capt. Frank M. Duffy, one of the best known writers in the South, and especially known in this section, as the famous "Hotspur," will take charge of the editorial department of the CHRONICLE next week.

TALK city, and it is a city.

EMPTY barrels make the most noise.

GOLD fields have been discovered on Coco Creek, East Tennessee.

WHERE, oh where, is Frank T. Reid? The Cicero of the Republican party.

A FEW cases of yellow fever are reported at Biloxi, Miss., and one case in New York.

THE widow of Gen. Cheatham, has been sworn in as acting post-mistress of Nashville.

CAPT. FRANK DUFFY, the gifted "Hotspur," will take charge of the editorial chair next week.

A SLIGHT snow fell at Helena, Minn., Sunday night; but it was not heavy enough to kill out the mosquitoes.

It now looks as if the Plumed Knight and the Man of Destiny would run another four mile dash in 1888.

It is reported that, Col. John Allison, our popular Secretary of State will shortly be married to a Lebanon belle.

THE Memphis Times of Sept. 5th, contains sixteen pages. It is the sprightliest Sunday paper that comes to our sanctum.

EVERY time a Republican is turned out of power, the Democratic masses rejoice. They won the battle, and want the fruits of victory.

HON. JO. WASHINGTON and Andrew J. Caldwell the two candidates for Congress, from this district, are speaking together in Nashville.

BOB AND ALF TAYLOR opened the campaign, Thursday at Madisonville, East Tennessee. They say that Bob wiped the earth with Alf.

HENRY WATTERSON, has been over in England mixing with the British free traders. He is now covered with war paint, and says that he is going to make it hot this winter for "them" tariff fellers.

B. T. McCASLIN, of Cumberland Furnace, is a candidate to represent Dickson county in the next Legislature. Squire McCaslin has a good many friends in Montgomery county who wish him success.

THE young man whom the Nashville American mentioned as "doing locals or the Chronicle," has also been doing editorial work, since the resignation of the regular editor, and he hopes that he is in some measure entertained his readers.

THE manufacturing spirit has at last sized our city, and we hope it will row. It will fill the tobacco metropolis with attractive cottages and bright happy faces. It is the true solution of a problem: How to make the many prosperous and the few poor.

THE Chinese are a very patriotic people. A writer in the Nineteenth Century says, that no length of residence abroad will ever naturalize a Chinaman. High and low, rich and poor, they all go to go back to China, and mix their genes with those of their ancestors.

REPUBLICAN MIASMA.

A Republican remarked within our hearing, that a fatality seemed to be raising the Democrats, that as soon as they got in office, they almost immediately thereafter died. A Democrat replied, the reason of that is, they are log from the effects of the miasma rising from the Republican rottenness which they were compelled to clean.

Nothing more from the Republican.

DEATH OF GEN. CHEATHAM.

Gen. Frank Cheatham is dead. The old hero breathed his last at 1:30 a.m. Saturday, September 4th, at the residence of his brother, Felix, in Nashville. At the time of his death his wife and children, the most skillful physicians and the most sympathetic and thoughtful nurses were at his bedside. Everything was done to save his life, but the time had arrived for the intrepid spirit to pass away. He died of heart disease. Just before his death he called his wife to whom he was tenderly devoted, to his side, and bade her farewell. His only thought was of her and his five little children. He then passed into a state of unconsciousness and went over again the exciting scenes of the late war. His last words were "There go the troops. Bring me my horse. My duty is in the front."

He was buried in Nashville, Monday at 3 p.m., with every honor from Confederate and Federal soldiers, and the citizens generally.

Like Napoleon, in the social circle, he was modest and charming, and in battle the bravest among the brave. In the war with Mexico he was called a young hero, and he was regarded as the Marshal Ney of the Southern army. Tennessee mourns the loss of her chivalric son, and thousands throughout the entire South will shed a silent sincere tear to his memory.

THE DIFFERENCE.

We have often heard it said by thoughtless persons that there is no difference between the Democratic and Republican parties. We beg to call the attention of our readers to one strong and potent difference. The National Review, the organ of the Tennessee Republicans, never lets an issue pass without casting a slur at the young men of the State. The Republican party would say to the young men; educate yourselves, lead upright and manly lives, be true to your families and your country, but stand still, or else seek homes elsewhere, we have no use for you in Tennessee.

On the other hand, the Democratic party would say, do all these things and we will give you a chance, you are worthy of the honors of the State, stay at home, we need you, we want you to help develop the wealth of Tennessee and increase its fame. The fathers of the State, know how difficult it is to give their sons a good start in life, and they are ready to help any party that will encourage "the boys." The young men themselves should not hesitate as to a choice between the two parties, and they are not hesitating. The chivalric young Democratic standard bearer for Governor is sweeping everything before him, and the prospect is that he will carry the State by 50,000 majority.

TO THE AVALANCHE.

The Clarksville Chronicle is pretty rough on Hon. John F. House when it says of Hon. William A. Quarles that he is too well known to need comment and then devotes five columns to comment on House. The Chronicle earnestly advocates House for the Senate and it would be a sad day commentary on any community if men of his purity of character and public services lacked generous appreciation at home.—Memphis Avalanche.

THE Avalanche misconstrues our editorial on Gen. William A. Quarles. Gen. Quarles' candidacy is limited to two counties, to wit; Montgomery and Stewart, where he is thoroughly "well known" by every man, woman, and child. As to the United States Senatorship, we are assured by Gen. Quarles and all of his friends that they are not only for Col. House for that position, but warmly for him, and so are all of our people.

THE QUAKER'S.

This does not refer to the religious sect but to the various earthquakes which have been rumbling around through the country for the past week or ten days. At Charleston S.C., 36 lives have been lost and $10,000,000 worth of property have been destroyed. At Augusta, Ga., the land has changed around, at Evansville, Ind., there was considerable excitement, and at Fort Worth Texas the water turned black.

Of course there are all sorts of theories to account for the phenomena. Some say that the crust of the ocean is wearing out, others that it is a gas under the earth that is causing the trouble. But none of them know, and the old theories have been exploded. We confidently expect that out of it will come some new light in the scientific world, and the distress and loss will doubtless prove a blessing in disguise.

While all of this is going on at other places Clarksville has been spared from any serious damage. Our farmers have raised good hay and wheat crops, a fine tobacco crop and a two-thirds corn crop, and the outlook for our business men was never brighter, for which we should be duly thankful and give the praise to Him who doeth all things well.

UNCERTAIN EUROPE.

We have been trying to write an editorial about affairs on the other side, but things are so uncertain in Europe that it is almost impossible to do so.

One day Lord Salisbury is up, and Mr. Gladstone is down, the next day Mr. Gladstone is up and Lord Salisbury is down. One day Ran Churchill is startling the English with his audacity, and the next day he is as quiet as a lamb. One day Prince Alexander of Bulgaria, is bidding farewell to his people and making eloquent speeches as an exile, the next day he is received and placed upon the throne in triumph, the very next day he is writing cringing letters to the Czar of Russia, and is denounced as a coward. One day it looks like war, the next day it looks like permanent peace.

To say the least, everything across the ocean is in a critical, uncertain, peaceable, and revolutionary state. Meanwhile all eyes turn to Bismarck, as the man who holds the key to the situation.

A NEW BARITONE.

The new baritone, Oudin, who was such a success in London last season, has reached the United States, and will doubtless make a tour of the country. The New York papers say that he has made a big hit with McCaull, at Wallick's Theatre, and is a great society card. He moves in the best circles, and in London he gets $200 a night to sing a ballad or two in a fashionable house. His popularity over there is due partly to the measure of his own ability, and partly to the fact that he quite captivated Albert Edward, Prince of Wales. The Prince heard him sing a song in French at a prominent social gathering, and interrupted Mr. Oudin to ask that he should finish the song in English, which the gentlemen promptly did. Thereupon the Prince shook hands with him heartily, invited him to Sandringham, and thus placed him in very great demand.

BOB'S GENIUS.

Both, Bro. Cooper, of the American, and Bro. Colyar, of the Union, claim Bob Taylor. Bro. Cooper says that he is opposed to the Blair bill, and Bro. Colyar says he is in favor of it. Both are giving him their warm support. This shows Bob's genius. The only other instance of the kind that we recall is that of Ash Caruth, who is now making the race for Congress, in the Louisville, Ky. district against Mr. Willis. It is said that when Mr. Caruth made his first race for commonwealth attorney, the prohibitionists, the whisky men, the gamblers, the law and reform men, the anarchists and the business men, each and all of them claimed him as their very own. He was elected to the position by the largest majority in the history of the district.

Bob evidently has the faculty of winning votes, and the Republicans might just as well begin now to address him, as Governor Taylor.

HON. JAMES D. RICHARDSON.

Hon. James D. Richardson is a candidate for re-election to Congress. "Slippery" Jim, as he is sometimes called, is the right kind of man for "the boys" to put in office. It is said that he has obtained twenty-seven good positions, under the government, for men from his home county. A man who will not forget his friends, after they have put him in power, is a man to be remembered and appreciated.

THE last week's CLARKSVILLE CHRONICLE has a splendid picture of Hon. Jno. F. House and a graphic biographical sketch of the silver tongued orator.—Franklin Review and Journal.
